MEET ALLEN WHITE:

He continued seeing internal medicine and pediatric patients until 2010 when he transitioned from clinical practice at Deaconess Clinic Morganfield to part-time medical director at Deaconess Clinic. As the 2008 merger of Welborn Clinic and Deaconess Medical Group began to solidify and grow into a successful organization, Dr. White accepted a full-time role as medical director. In 2013, he became vice president of Deaconess Clinic.

In his current role as regional CMO, Dr. White will form a council of physician leaders from Ferrell Hospital, Lawrence County Memorial Hospital, Deaconess Union County Hospital, Deaconess Gibson Hospital and other affiliates to foster clinical integration, best practice sharing, peer review, provider recruitment and other needs as they arise. He is very interested in improving communication and collaboration among the regional health care providers with a focus on improving care and patient experience.

Allen earned a bachelor's degree in biology and received his MD from the University of Kentucky.
